Federation Meeting.

The meeting of the Federated Clubs at the home of Mrs. Thomas E. Nelson yesterday afternoon proved a most delightful one in every way.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. F. Kellogg, who briefly expressed congratulations over the work accomplished along the lines of civic beauty in the accession to the city of the river banks.

Mrs. I. P. Witter, in a few words, gave a most gratifying report of what has been accomplished by the park commission.

A resolution was read by Mrs. Pease, expressing pleasure and appreciation of the gift to the city by Dr. Byron Robinson and wife, Lucy Waite, and it was voted that a letter expressing the appreciation of said gift by the members of the federation, be written Dr. Robinson and wife.

The program as scheduled in the year book was then carried out. Mrs. Babcock telling of the aims and plans of the relief committee while Mrs. Ellis' paper showed what is being accomplished along these lines in other cities. Mrs. Pease gave a report of the Boston Biennial, which was so interesting and given so delightfully the ladies almost felt they had been present with Mrs. Pease at this national meeting of Women's clubs. The ladies were most grateful to Clarence Jackson and Miss Ruby Natwick for the musical part of the program.

The reception was in charge of the ladies of the hill division, with Mrs. Lina Corriveau as chairman. Dainty refreshments were served and taken altogether it was voted a most enjoyable session.

The membership of the Federation is now about 150 members and the outlook for the year 1908-9 is most gratifying.

Extinguishing Forest Fires

Some parties who were picnicking on Long Island recently built a fire on the island and neglected to extinguish it when they left so that it got considerable of a start. The Consolidated people who own the island sent men up to extinguish the fire, which was done after considerable trouble. Parties who build fires in the woods should bear in mind that there is a state law compelling them to extinguish them again and a penalty is attached to their neglect to do so.

Parties camping on other people's land should have the courtesy to leave things in a safe condition when they get thru, anyway.

F. J. Wood reports that he also found three fires burning on the island known as Love's Nook up river on Tuesday morning, and that it took himself and a companion more than an hour to subdue the conflagration. He states that had there been a heavy wind at the time the island would have been burned clean of everything.

Meat Market Change.

John Cepress has purchased James McCarthy's interest in the meat market, heretofore operated under the name of Owen Love and Co. and hereafter it will be known as Love & Cepress. Mr. Cepress will attend to the meat cutting and inside work, and Mr. Love will do the buying and other outside business.

Both of the parties in the new firm are well and favorably known in this city and should make a strong team. There is no doubt that they will get their share of the business in their line.

Mr. Schumacher has discontinued the handling of groceries and will devote the space heretofore used for this purpose to the enlargement of his dry-goods business.

Mr. Schumacher reports that he has felt the need of more room for his dry goods department for some time past, it having been impossible for him to carry the sized stock that he wanted to, or the variety that his trade called for. His experts to put in a ready to wear department for the ladies in the near future, in which will keep a large assortment of ladies' clothes of all kinds, so that by keeping up with the latest styles he will be able to supply anything needed in this line.

Mr. Schumacher will continue his shoe and gent's furnishing departments for the present, at least, but expects in time to have an exclusive ladies store, and feels with the added room at his disposal he will be able to supply the trade in a satisfactory manner.

Easy Way to Remove Stumps.

From the New North, Rhineclander.

Larry Nolan, one of the leading farmers in the town of Newbold, has invented a process for pulling stumps which promises to be of untold value to the farmers of the country. His method which has already attracted widespread attention is as follows:

With a two inch auger, bore a hole perpendicular into the stump about two feet. Pour into this hole one pint of a mixture of equal parts of nitric and sulphuric acids. Then plug the hole tightly with a plug dipped in melted tallow. In thirty days the stump so treated will be a charred, pulpy mass, roots and all, and may be scrowed over the soil as a fertilizer with a shovel.

Mr. Nolan has just stumped six acres of land on his Newbold farm in this manner, at a cost of four cents each and five minutes labor per stump. The John H. Davis Lumber Company at Phillips is carrying several hundred acres of land in Price county.

New Church Dedicated.

The new German Lutheran Church at Pittsburg was dedicated on Sunday with appropriate services, there being three seasons during the day, all of which were crowded. The new church, which will be known as St. John's, is a handsome edifice of red brick, costing in the neighborhood of $10,000, and Rev. Victor Gruber is the pastor.

Rev. Knif of Athens preached the service in the morning. Rev. Maack of this city the one in the afternoon, and Rev. Wm. Nannummen of this city the evening service. Among those who were present from this city at the services were Mr. and Mrs. August Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bernheuse and Wm. Schroedel.

Miss Hattie Reichel has accepted a position as saleslady in the Johnson & Hill Co. store.

Gives the City a Park.

At the last meeting of the city council Dr. Byron Robinson presented to the city of Grand Rapids a deed of land lying east of the city to be used as park purposes. The property is located near the cemetery and with proper care and attention can in time be made into a very pretty park, the land being high and dry, with a certain amount of trees on it. While the land is a considerable distance from the heart of the city at the present time, there is no question but what in time it will seem but a short distance out, as the city has been gradually building in that direction.

The city council accepted the gift and passed resolutions of thanks. Dr. Robinson formerly lived here and practiced his profession and it would seem that he remembers the city and the people with a kindly feeling.

L. E. GERDE, Representative

It hadn't been so really serious it might have been laughable—this 48-hour romance of pretty little Ethel English, just turned 16 years, and Clark Breckenridge, 23. It was a wedding, a spanking and a forgiving—all within the brief span of two days. And more than that—the angry father began proceedings at once to have the marriage annulled, and to have the young man arrested for seduction, only to find that the young man could not be sustained and that annulment was impossible.

The old story—a schoolgirl falling in love with the young man who came alone and was good-looking and said tender things and talked of flowers and moonlight. Half of Brownsville, Pa., says that Dr. J. J. English, the bride's father, did perfectly right in trying to keep the young man away from his daughter. The other half, with equal emphasis, feels for the young man. Why shouldn't he marry the girl of his heart, seeing that she had money of her own and a good position at a good salary for one of her years, and is heir to a nice fortune besides?

The Wedding.

It only began the other day, when Ethel English, school over for the term, went to Carmichael's, Pa., to visit her cousin, the father. At the same time young Breckenridge had vacation and he went to Carmichael's, too. And there he met pretty Miss English—vivacious, clever, pretty as a picture and young and romantic to her finger tips.

He had met Miss English casually before, in Brownsville, where he lives, but there were plenty of other young chaps around then and he was only one of many. But here at Carmichael's the field was clear for him, Miss Ethel did not know a single other soul in all the town except her relatives, the Bailey family, and when young Mr. Breckenridge touched his hat in the street to the pretty little girl from Brownsville she colored a bit and started to speak to him.

"What brings you here?" she asked, interestedly.

"Oh, I'm just on a vacation," said the young man.

"Isn't that nice?" exclaimed Miss

WOOD, WEDDED SPANKED and FORGIVEN all in 48 HOURS

young Breckenridge telephoned for a car, and in half an hour he drove up and in a few minutes he was driving away with the young man. He had learned that under West Virginia law the marriage was perfectly legal, and it was the father-in-law, not the son-in-law, who found himself forced to give in.

"Come over," he said. "You're forgiven, but don't do it again."

It took young Breckenridge only a few minutes to dash over to Rodmansville to claim his bride of 48 hours before. There were kisses and handshakes all around and off went the bride, sufficed in smiles and tears, to make her new home with her young husband.

Now the perjury suit is dropped and the habeas corpus proceedings are quashed.

"After all," says Dr. English, "I can't blame them so much. I might have done the same thing myself."

The bride is the youngest daughter of Dr. English, a very well-known physician. He has a magnificent farm, well kept and stocked. The mother is dead. All the family are high-spirited. There are three daughters, all bright and vivacious. The eldest is the wife of Charles C. Carter, a leading young lawyer of Brownsville. Josephine, the second daughter, is single. A son, B. J. English, M. D., died recently.

The children inherited money from their mother's relatives, and a recent sale of real estate gave Ethel $47,000 from that deal alone. And she has other money. The father wanted the girl to go to school, but she opposed, and it is believed fear of being sent to some tight-laced institution had much to do with this opposition.

She was approaching the romantic age and took the first man who asked her. In this case the man was quite attractive. He is a handsome young fellow, immensely popular with young women. He is the oldest son of William Breckenridge, a rich retired hotel man. The lad has always had a free hand with money and his interest in the law is the result of exhaustion in running away with his bride.

FARM WORK BY PRISONERS.

A Danish Plan to Improve Barren Heaths of Jutland.

"Realizing that crime in many instances is the result of early environment, which made the criminal what he is, the Danish government takes a paternal interest in those who are brought within the charge of the prison authorities," said Eric Herland, a lumber merchant of Traverse City, Mich., who has been on a visit to his native land, Denmark.

"Denmark still possesses in the heaths of Jutland a large undeveloped territory that requires much labor to make it suitable for agricultural purposes," continued Mr. Herland. "Of late years, however, many farms have begun to dot this Jutland landscape. Through persistent efforts are now in evidence where formerly the heaths were barren except for unbroken stretches of ling. Acres of grain bearing soil have replaced the tough undergrowth that was good for nothing but the turf."

"The work of reclaiming the heaths largely has been accomplished through the co-operation of the Danish prison authorities and individuals who wished to embark in farming on their own account and had no means of buying ground. In such instances every inducement is offered the agriculturist to become the owner of a plot of ground on the heath. For him to break up the single headed and start business would be a physical impossibility. It is here the prisoners do the preliminary work."

"A freedom which will not infringe on the regulations necessary to keep up discipline is given by the prisoners on the Danish heath, but the work is no child's play. Severe as the labor is, however, seldom is a prisoner heard to complain, for if such complaints should reach the

For just a day Dr. English held out. SUIT Little Mrs. Breckenridge kept on weeping. Then he gave in.

"I'll forgive you," said Dr. English, taking the girl wife in his arms. "I guess you love him and I guess he loves you. We'll send for him right away."

The Forgiveness.

The next minute Dr. English was at the telephone calling up the Breckenridge home, and finally he got Clark Breckenridge himself on the wire. He had learned that under West Virginia law the marriage was perfectly legal, and it was the father-in-law, not the son-in-law, who found himself forced to give in.

"Come over," he said. "You're forgiven, but don't do it again."

DAVIDSON VS. AYLWARD

ARE WISCONSIN NOMINEES FOR OFFICE OF GOVERNOR.

Stevens Point Running Close to Former Congressman S. A. Cook.

Milwaukee.—The Wisconsin primaries were marked by a light democratic vote. The nomination of Neal Brown for United States senator was assured. Senator Isaac Stephenson was nominated for senator, with former Congressman Cook running second. Stephenson was first or second choice in most counties. His lead was over 10,000. District Attorney McGovern ran far ahead in Milwaukee county, but not so strong in the state. Senator Stephenson, former Congressman Cook, and McGovern, La Follette's candidate, were in the lead in the state, with W. H. Hutton far in the rear. Neal Brown was nominated by the Democrats, and with war in the Republican ranks over the four-cornered fight may be counted upon to make a strong fight in the legislature. There was no contest for the head of the Republican ticket, but J. Aylward had the lead in the democratic fight. The Democrats, however, did not

WHAT THE TRADE MARK MEANS TO THE BUYER

Few people realize the importance of the words "Trade Mark" stamped on the goods they buy. If they did it would save them many a dollar spent for worthless goods and put a lot of unscrupulous manufacturers out of the business.

When a manufacturer adopts a trade mark he assumes the entire responsibility for the merit of his product. He takes his business reputation in his hands—out in the open light—"on the square" with the buyer of his goods, with the dealer, and with himself.

The other manufacturer, the one who holds out "inducements" offering to brand all goods purchased with such local dealer's brand—sidestepping responsibility, and when these inferior goods "come back" it's the local dealer that must pay the penalty.

A good example of the kind of protection afforded the public by a trade mark is that offered in connection with National Lead Company's advertising of pure White Lead as the best paint material.

That the Dutch Boy Painter trade mark is an absolute guaranty of purity in White Lead is proved to the most skeptical by the offer. National Lead Company makes no secret of its address at the back and how to test the white lead to be themselves. The testing outfit is being sent out from the New York office of the company, Woodbridge Building.

HER GOOD FORTUNE

After Years Spent in Vain Effort.

Mrs. Mary E. H. House, of Cambridge, N. Y., says: "Two years ago I had a bad fall and it affected my kidneys. Severe pains in the back and hips became constant, and sharp twinges followed, no exertion. The kidneys secretions were badly disordered. I lost flesh and grew too weak to work. Though constantly using medicine I despaired of being cured until I began using 'Dutch Boy' Pills. Then relief came quickly, and in a short time I was completely cured. I am now in excellent health."

A Few Funny Facts.

The Georgia legislature had under consideration a bill which would make null and void a marriage contracted into which a woman has wedded a man by means of powder, perfume, cosmetics, hair, high heels, false hair, corsets, high heels, necked shirts, low-cut waists, long, or rainbow hosiery, or by any other artificial means or practices. Why not limit the woman's "wedding" privileges to the method of olden times? It is plain the poor men need at least a tenable suit.

Not Guilty.

"Now, Mrs. McCarthy," said counsel for the defense, "please tell us simply as you can your version of this affair. It is alleged that you referred to Mrs. Callahan in disparaging terms."

"Not a bit, ay, I didn't say anything about her. I didn't say anything about her garden truck, except that I said she had a nose like a squash and her complexion was as bad as a tomato in the last stages. You can see for yourself if it isn't the truth."

Progress Reported.

"Yes, you have any luck fishing?" "Yes, I have had one catch."

"Didn't catch any. But I thought up some mighty good stories to tell the folks at home."

Then the young couple decided to go back to Brownsville and make a clean breast of the whole thing. And Annie Bailey went along. It was ten o'clock at night when they got back, tired out, dumpy, hungry and happy.

The Home Coming.

Then the young couple decided to go back to Brownsville and make a clean breast of the whole thing. And Annie Bailey went along. It was ten o'clock at night when they got back, tired out, dumpy, hungry and happy.

The Beginning.

Bibb. "I'm here, too, for a visit with my cousins, the Baileys. Won't you come in and see me, and we'll talk over Brownsville."

"I'll only be too glad," replied the young man, flattered at the invitation from such a pretty, likable girl as Ethel English. "I'll come around to-night."

Now, most Brownsville folks say that this was pure chance, this meeting of the two young people in another town, but there are a few who declare that young Breckenridge had fallen in love with the girl the first time he saw her at Brownsville and that he had gone purposely to Carmichael's, where he could have the girl alone to himself. As any rate, there had been another girl to whom he had been engaged, but three weeks before he had given her up—the reason he gave at the time was because she had danced with another fellow.

So that very night the young man called on pretty little Ethel. They sat out on the porch and talked of many things. Next morning it was a stroll through the quiet lanes of the countryside and in the afternoon a drive. There was candy, too, whenever the young man came, and flowers very often.

And all the time the Baileys very often suspected a thing—the young people were just enjoying their vacation.

The Eloping.

There was a garage in Carmichael's and occasionally young Breckenridge and a specially mounted car after a run. Nothing was thought of that, either, by the Baileys, for often they took along Miss Annie Bailey, the young daughter of the family where Miss Ethel was visiting.

So, when an auto spin was proposed one bright afternoon, and actually knowing that the Baileys would be away, Miss Annie was invited to accompany Miss Ethel, nobody had the slightest objection. But Annie Bailey was in a little secret, too, and her going was only to be with her cousin on the most momentous occasion of her life.

Ethel English was coming with Clark Breckenridge. And Annie Bailey knew that the Baileys wouldn't come until little Miss English was Mrs. Clark Breckenridge.

From Carmichael's they started to motor swiftly to Washington, Pa. For the moment luck was against them. The car broke down and the bride-to-be was in trouble.

For an answer to her pleadings to hurry, for fear they would be caught, through a little frightened at what she had done. The news had gone ahead of them. Friends of both bride and bridegroom, the families and relatives and a big wagon drawn by mules and filled with servants was at the station. Besides, there were the two sisters and two brothers of the bride—the sisters to give her a piece of their mind and the brothers to take it out of Clark Breckenridge.

The sisters started toward young Mrs. Breckenridge the moment she stepped off the car. Time to her new dignity the bride resented their interference. The sisters sought to drag her home. The bride wouldn't have it at all and there was a hair-pulling match right in front of everybody.

It was rather a sad ending for such a pretty little romance. The bride's family were all trying to get her to go home, the Breckenridges and their friends were equally determined that Clark's bride be let alone. The bridegroom's friends won out and the Miss not a husband, after the marriage, could not take his bride from her father and bring her to his home. The English family threatened all sorts of punishment for the bridegroom; the Breckenridge family promised all sorts of reprisals. Meanwhile the poor little bride, deprived of her husband of an hour, was weeping away at home as if her heart would break.

And that was the final straw that broke the camel's back of the father's hitherto unrelenting resolution. Dr. English couldn't bear to see his pretty little daughter weeping all the time and begging to be allowed to see her young husband.

"Do you really love him?" demanded the doctor, when he found that the bride had been to his home. "More than anything in the world," sobbed the girl. "Oh, can't I see him for just a little minute? Won't you see him? Won't you talk to him?"

THE FLOWERS OF SPEECH.

One Time When John Barrett Didn't Say Just What He Had in Mind.

Worthily or unworthily, Hon. John Barrett has the reputation of being the champion speaker of the United States. He used to be the American minister to Siam; he has since been made the director of the bureau of American republics, and is still hoping. But his friends say he can talk, and will talk, if you only ask him, on anything from the state of the world to the most minute details of a few more things besides.

Yet even Hon. John himself admits that he has had his setbacks. One of these, he says, occurred in Siam.

"Along about 1905," he recently remarked, "when I was in Siam, I was honored by an invitation to deliver the graduation address at the country's only and most select ladies' seminary. I had studied the language hard, and thought I knew something about it; but the native tongue depends almost entirely upon inflection; what may be praise when uttered in the key of C is blame when spoken in B flat—which is where I erred."

"I began famously. Everyone applauded me, and the girls smiled. Then, as I went on, I noticed, bewildered in the faces of my hearers. This emotion gave way to consternation, and finally, bringing myself to an embarrassed halt, I turned to a native friend of mine beside me."

"What's the trouble?" I whispered to him in English.

"Trouble?" he repeated. "Why, the trouble is what your excellency is saying."

"But, I protested, I am saying: 'I am delighted to see so many young noblewomen, rising to intellectual heights, with fine brains and large appreciation.'"

"Oh, no, you're not," corrected my friend. "Your excellency is saying: 'I am delighted to see so many small lionesses growing large and fat, with big noses and huge feet.'"

An exchange tells us that if you would increase your happiness as well as prolong your life, forget your neighbor's faults. Forget the slander you've heard. Forget temptation. Forget the peculiarities of your friends and only remember the good points which make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels or rivalries you may have had by accident. Blot out as far as possible the disagreeable of life; they will come but they will grow less when you remember them, and be constant thought of acts of unkindness will only tend to make you unfamiliar with them. Obliterate everything disagreeable from your mind; start out with a clean sheet today and write on it only loving things.

A Wausau Pilot:—Miller, co-fielder of the Wausau team, has been sold to Toledo, O., for $800. He was secured from the St. Paul team because that prevented his recall before the close of the season. The money goes to the St. Paul team. Ned McCauley to St. Paul. Lang, Sox has been recalled. Tang's recall this season has made Manager Conkey wish he had not "farmed" him out this year. It is conceded Conkey made a mistake in not recalling a throwt.

Stevens Point Journal:—L. Witter, president; G. W. Mead, president; Guy Nash, secretary; P. Horton, business manager. Thomas Nash, all of Grand Rapids and all leading stockholders in Jackson Milling Co., came up by today for the purpose of having the dam across the river here owned by the company and lived in the operation of the mill taken over by the old navy's flour mill. The old dam which was erected in pioneer days has long been in a serious state of disrepair and has not only much trouble but has required a outlay of money yearly for repairs. It is hoped that the company will find it advisable to put in the long anticipated new dam at an early date. After looking over the present future course of the company it was decided to take under advisement and to its repair or reconstruction was taken under advisement further study.

doctor by the name of Stewen to have fever. In studying his own case he noticed that he had fever came and went in a very capricious manner, and he reached the conclusion that it was mostly a nervous disease. Some how or other he reasoned himself into the belief that the sun's rays produced his fever by acting in some way upon the eyes. So he thought to try smoked glasses for the eyes to see if that would not prevent his having fever.

He reports that smoked glasses gave instant relief. But if he went out in the sun without the glasses he was sure to have his fever again. So now he wears the smoked glasses and is happy. He has no more fever. He says he has tried the glasses on two or three other patients, and claims that the same relief is obtained.

MARCH OF VETERANS

PARADE OF THE GRAND ARMY IS A GREAT SUCCESS.

IS REVIEWED BY MR. TAFT

His Dramatic and Cordial Meeting with Senator Foreaker Elicited Cheers from Old Soldiers and Spectators.

Toledo, O.,—For an hour or more Wednesday the great parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, with its attendant throngs, served merely as the background of a dramatic incident, as has happened in other campaigns in some years, namely the public meeting of William H. Taft and his erstwhile rival, Senator Joseph Benson Foreaker.

The Republican leader and his antagonist met in the official reviewing stand, shook hands, and exchanged greetings, while from thousands of throats came cheer after cheer as the significance of the incident dawned upon the beholders.

Mr. Taft, dressed in much golf and some fishing in Middle Island, ignorant of the impending meeting, arrived from the island on Commodore Richmond's motor boat, Jassamine, at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. His progress along the streets in an automobile, accompanied by Gen. Corbin, President Lewis of the Middle Mass Fishing club, and Mayor Whitlock, was a continued ovation. The thousands in the reviewing stand when he entered, and for some time after he had become seated. Then Senator Foreaker appeared and the two shook hands cordially and chatted together.

Parade a Great Success.

The parade was remarkable for the absence of accidents and cases of exhaustion, and for the good order which prevailed. Only among the dense crowds along the line of march, throughout the city, Mayor Whitlock stated that despite the crowd of 100,000 visitors there had been fewer accidents, fewer misunderstandings and less work for the police generally than on any average day of the year. Aside from a veteran who was slightly bruised by being hit by an automobile, there were no accidents, and not more than a dozen visited the hospital as the result of fatigue.

Estimates of the number of veterans in the line varied from 8,000 to three times that number, but it is doubtful if there were more than 12,000. The columns marched with half a block between them, and the departments were even further apart. There was a good ten feet separating each row of marchers and it was this liberality of space which made it require four fully paid men to follow a single file. Fully half the veterans were the badges of either Michigan or Ohio.

Some Amusing Features.

Some of the veterans, who in experience of decades, carried handkerchiefs over their arms, and whenever there was a halt they promptly sat down, to the envy of their comrades. The first amusing incident of the march came with the marching past of the Michigan detachment. Two veteran boys, in sailor suits and each carrying a broom, hearing the platoon, "Who won the battles of '61 and '65?" "We did," danced along the way and were the targets of many laughters. The Jordan sharpshooters carried their rifles in 12-foot cloth sustained by poles at each end and borne by two men. The wind being brisk, propelled the bearers forward faster than they could go, and they were compelled to strain at the banner at every step to avoid being carried forward at a run.

Waterville, Me.,—In full view of 25,000 horrified spectators assembled on the Central Maine fair grounds here late Wednesday, Charles Oliver Jones, a well-known aeronaut of international fame, fell 500 feet to his death.

Among the witnesses of the frightful plunge were Mrs. Jones and child, and they were almost the first to reach the side of the dying man. The aeronaut died an hour and a half after the accident.

Jones had made an ascension in a dirigible balloon. The gas had leaked and sparks from the motor set the machine afire.

ADMIRAL SPERRY FORMALLY WELCOMED TO CITY.

Official Landing Day for the American Fleet—Crews March to Church on Sunday.

Melbourne—Monday was official landing day for the American fleet and Admiral Sperry and the officers of the battleships came ashore formally, in full regalia, and were formally welcomed by the federal and city officials.

Admiral Sperry expressed himself as highly appreciative of the warm welcome extended to himself and the men under him, and the kindly greeting of the Australians, both at Sydney and at Melbourne, has developed a feeling of gratification throughout the fleet.

Twenty-five hundred men of the ships were given shore leave Sunday, and 1,000 marched through Collins street to St. Patrick's cathedral where pontifical mass was held at noon. The American blue jackets and marines were preceded by 2,000 cadets and a number of bands were in the procession. The streets were thronged with spectators, who gave the men a hearty welcome. After the services in the cathedral special services were held in all the Protestant churches of the city.

Melbourne.—The streets of Melbourne late Monday night were filled with surging, good-humored crowds numbering hundreds of thousands, all out to do honor to the visiting Americans. The crush in the principal thoroughfares was so great that many scores of persons and several persons were injured.

The entire day was set apart to justification and will ever live in the memory of the inhabitants of Victoria. The federal government tendered a banquet to the admirals and senior officers of the visiting warships at the Marlborough hotel, at which Lord Northcote, governor-general of the commonwealth, and Prime Minister Deakin made brilliant speeches. Rear Admiral Sperry, replying in behalf of the American navy, declared that a rupture between the English-speaking nations would be not only a loss but a crime. Admiral Sperry was presented with an address by the commonwealth parliament.

Property Loss Is Between One and Two Million Dollars.

New Orleans.—Fire which broke out in the center of the commercial district Sunday morning swept over portions of three blocks, destroying large number of wholesale houses, manufacturing plants and small stores. Originating at Bienville and Chartres streets, the flames worked their way north as far as Canal street, and west as far as the river, bringing about a loss of between one and two million dollars before they were finally subdued.

Several circumstances combined to give the fire a headway which proved hard to overcome. At the time the alarm was turned in, shortly before three o'clock, the New Orleans firemen were in the midst of their annual picnic at a suburban park and many engines and patrols responded with a mere handful of men. It was fully an hour before the department was in a position to make anything like a successful fight against the fire, and then the handicap against it was added to by an inadequate supply of water.

Boston.—The most brutal crime in Greater Boston since the death of Susan Gray, a chorus girl, four years ago, was disclosed Thursday night by the discovery of the torso of Mrs. Hannah Jordan, an actress aged 25 years, of Somerville, in a trunk in a boarding house at 7 Hancock street on Beacon hill, this city. Later the head and the bones of the limbs were found in the furnace of the Jordan home at Somerville and the scalp, hair and other gruesome remains were taken from the kitchen range of the house.

Chester Jordan, aged 29 years, an actor of Somerville, is held by the police charged with the murder and, according to the officers, he made a complete confession of the crime.

According to Jordan's confession he accidentally killed his wife, Tuesday night in a quarrel at his home and, becoming desperate over what he had done, took a butcher's knife, razor and shears and cut up the body and placed the torso in a trunk.

They are indicted for alleged failure to suppress the riot when detailed for that duty.

So Says Springfield Woman Assaulted by Colored Man.

Springfield, Ill.—At two o'clock Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Earl Holman signed a statement that George Richardson is not the negro who assaulted her on the night of August 24. A warrant is reported to have been sworn out for the arrest of another negro named Ralph Buxton, who may be implicated in the assault.

It was the alleged assault charged against Richardson and his arrest and removal to Bloomington, Ill., that precipitated the recent bloody race riot. Twelve more indictments were returned by the special grand jury Tuesday in connection with the recent riots. Ernest Humphrey, alias "Slim," Humphrey, was indicted on a charge of murder, the true bill implicating him in the murder of Scott Burton, the aged negro who was lynched at Twelfth and Madison streets.

Burglar's Conscience Hurt Him.

He was arrested about on a charge of October 25 last, and also the home of William Gluck, fourth assistant examiner in the patent office at Washington. The latter robbery was committed, he said, on November 9, 1907. "I have been tortured by my conscience and can get no rest day or night, so I want to face trial and end it all," Mantell told the detectives.

The robbers were frightened by daylight before securing the bank's funds. The vault was wrecked and a large hole blown in the floor. # HIGHEST SALARIED WOMAN.

Miss Amend Receives $20,000 a Year, But Prefers Domestic Life.

NEW YORK.—The distinction of being the highest salaried woman in New York, in the opinion of Miss Anna Louise Amend, who draws something over $20,000 a year, does not compensate for the sacrifices of domestic life which such a success exacts.

This is what Miss Amend, who is the most valuable employee at the big real estate concern in this city, told me as she sat in her huge leather-cushioned chair in her beautifully appointed office:

"I suppose many women envy me, but to my mind, to be a good mother and wife is the greatest of all sacrifices. Home is the natural sphere for every woman, and no matter in what direction her lines may be cast she can not entirely shake off that desire to reign as its queen sometime."

"It is just this one ruling element in her life that prevents her from attaining equal success with men. The average girl lives in hope that some day a husband will come along and shoulder her burden. It is only when she finds herself of this thought that definite success in business comes, for concentration is one of the keynotes to success."

"Another thing: Women are doubtful of their ability to accomplish vast results, and it is impossible to do a thing as long as a doubt rests in our mind."

"When I started out to earn my living I began as a stenographer with a salary of $15 a week. It was not such a great start, but I was determined to succeed. I worked until my check was increased to $50. That did not look so big to me, but it would have satisfied the average woman."

"My checks continued to increase until they ran into the thousands. Of course, my usefulness had increased. I was not satisfied with being a stenographer. I had learned every phase of the business and could put a big deal through with as much ability as could any man in the office. In fact, there is no part of the business with which I am not familiar."

"But with all my success I would not advise the young girl to seek a career. For in my belief the girl who gets married is on the right road to happiness. Success in all lines is hard."
